

DULLES, ADENAUER BEGIN URGENT TALKS

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHY T.

We Should Reflect On Importance Of Constitution

OUR CONSTITUTION: I don't have the faintest hope that all of you who start reading this dissertation will go all the way with it but if a fraction of you do, it is worth the space and effort.

Tomorrow, Sept. 17, is Constitution Day. It is not a day like Thanksgiving or Christmas or Armistice Day on which we close our businesses and our schools. But it's a day during which we should stop and reflect on its importance because it has kept us knit into a country of democracy.

I was wanting something to run to emphasize Constitution Day and I found just what I wanted on the first page of the weekly bulletin of the Harrisburg public schools.

It's part of a talk made this past summer by Earl Warren, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Here is what Mr. Warren has to say about faith being the foundation of our Republic:

"... We have faltered and stumbled through two World Wars and other conflicts. Millions of people have been killed and injured in our time and untold suffering has become the lot of entire races. But, side by side with those nightmarish things progress has been made in many fields with lightning rapidity. In this short period of time more has been done to relieve mankind of suffering from disease, backbreaking manual labor, discrimination, ignorance and isolation combined.

"All of those accomplishments have been made possible because of faith and belief in some ideal—none of them through fear or frustration or even through chance. And because Americans have always had faith, we as a nation have been able to make great contributions to this progress. Our Nation has always been distinguished for its youthful ideals and its faith. It was faith that brought the Pilgrim Fathers to this beautiful but stern coast of New England—faith in their religion, faith in their own ability to establish a free society in a wilderness thousands of miles from civilization. It was faith—not fear—that drove our people westward into the wild Northwest country; then across the plains, the Rockies, and the Sierras to the Pacific Coast.

"It was faith that caused them to establish the Republic and to give to our elected representatives the power to govern a people determined always to be free. It was the same faith that caused men to build our railroads, our factories, our business establishments and our cities within the framework of that untried form of government.

"None of these things were accomplished through fear or frustration or bitterness. All of them came from faith and vision and good will. And so it will be for you in this last half of the twentieth century as it has been before. All worthwhile accomplishments will come from the same guiding spirit—the Faith of our Fathers.

"Your greatest problem as an American is the art of living at peace with the world. This problem will not be solved by technology, by nuclear physics, by chemistry, by radar, or by guided missiles or any instrument of destruction. It will be solved, if it is to be solved, by the fundamentals that you have been taught in these halls of learning—logic, philosophy, ethics, morality, religion and history."

GOP, Democrats Open Fight for 84th Congress

Nixon, Martin
Spark Bid; Stevenson
Hits Administration

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The fight for control of the 84th Congress is off to a roaring start with Republicans warning that a Democratic win will "sabotage" the Eisenhower administration which Democrats say has flopped.

Two leading GOP campaigners, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., hit the campaign trail Wednesday to spark their party's bid to retain and expand its present slender hold on Congress.

Although the official Democratic campaign kickoff is scheduled for a party rally at Indianapolis, Ind., Friday and Saturday, 1952 presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson warmed up Wednesday night with a blistering attack on the first GOP administration in 20 years.

Both Nixon and Martin bore down on the theme that a Democratic victory at the polls on Nov. 2 would wreck President Eisenhower's program. And both lashed out at claims that the Democrats have or will support his program.

Nixon told a Republican rally at Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday night that the election of a Democratic Congress in November would "mark the beginning of the end for the Eisenhower program in January."

He said a Democratic Congress would "torpedo" this magnificent work—now at its midway. "Don't let the opposition candidates, as they clutch at our popular President's coat tails, fool you with promises that they will 'support' him," Nixon said. "Ask them if they will vote for the Republican leadership on Jan. 3."

Election of a Democratic Congress in November would pass the all-important committee chairmanships to Democrats. At present, the Republicans have a one-vote edge over the Democrats in the Senate and five in the House.

Stevenson, in a speech at Cincinnati, swung hard at what he termed the "failures" of the administration during its first two years. He ticked them off as loss of American influence in the world, the break-up of Western unity, high living costs, low farm prices and increased unemployment.

He said the American people are "ready to get off" the Republican diet of "nonsense, nonsense and nastiness" in Washington. The Republican party, the former Illinois governor quipped, "is not a party, it's a brawl."

Stevenson also blasted what he termed the "degrading spectacle" of the Army-McCarthy hearings and the granting of "special favor and business to a few."

Martin said at New Brunswick, N. J., that Mr. Eisenhower's program will be "sabotaged and ripped apart" if the Democrats control the next Congress. He said they would try to "embarrass and hamstring" the administration to lay the groundwork for the election of a Democratic president in 1956.

Deaths of Three In Building Collapse Ruled Accidental

FLORA, Ill. (U.P.)—Salvage workers today picked their way through the ruins of two buildings which collapsed Wednesday killing three men.

There was no indication there would be further investigation of the building collapse after a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday night that the deaths of Carroll Thomas, 19; Jerry Savage, 18, and Leonard Leak, 34, were accidental. They were crushed beneath the rubble of the Powless-Thromorton Drug store when the 80-year-old, two-story brick building suddenly fell apart.

Cecil Powless and John Thromorton, co-owners of the store, escaped from the wreckage and it was believed there was no one else in the store at the time of the collapse.

Owners of the drug store and a cleaning shop next door which collapsed on top of the drug store ruins said they could not estimate their losses until salvage operations were complete.

Thomas and Savage were employees of the drug store. Leak was a carpenter working with his father to remove a portion of a soda fountain which was an independent unit and not attached to a wall.

2,121 Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Public Health Service today reported a slight increase in new polio cases last week, with a total of 2,121 new cases in the nation. The figure compares with 2,105 cases reported for the previous week.

START CAMPAIGN TOUR—Vice President Richard Nixon, left, and House Speaker Joseph Martin, right, leave Washington, Nixon is scheduled for a midwest tour, while Martin plans an eleven-day transcontinental swing as the GOP launches an all-out bid for control of the new Congress to be elected Nov. 2. National Plowing Matches Begin in County Fair Atmosphere at Olney

Three Day Event
Will Choose Nation's Plowing Champions

By ROBERT L. ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent

OLNEY, Ill. (U.P.)—A three-day agricultural exhibition and test of a basic farming skill—plowing—that more than matches a county fair in size and activity began today in the "front-yard" of Ray Miller's farm north of here.

The 82-acre Miller farm is in the middle of the 2,200 acres leased on Olney Hill from 14 farmers for the National Plow Matches which will choose the level-land and contour plowing champions of the nation.

Since last January bulldozers and graders have roared across Olney Hill preparing the site for the matches and accompanying demonstrations and exhibits of modern farming methods. The job of feeding as many as 24 heavy equipment operators at a sitting fell to Mrs. Louise Miller.

Like a County Fair
"It was hard work but I enjoyed every minute of it," she said on the eve of the matches. "It's just like having a county fair in our front yard."

Her enthusiasm is shared by Miller, whose steady efforts to rehabilitate a worn out farm during the past 10 years was capped this year when he won the Richland County soil conservation award. Before Miller bought the farm, it was farmed by tenants who failed to follow soil conservation practices such as will be shown these three days to an estimated 100,000 persons.

"There were gullies deep enough to hide a tractor and wagon," Miller said, describing his fight to win back the land. Now his acres are farmed on the contour on hills, crops are rotated and other modern methods followed.

"I feel we all are going to benefit from the matches and I was more than glad to cooperate," he said. Miller had to change his crop planting plans this year to make sure his fields would be available for the contest this week.

There are two farm ponds on Miller's place and another will be built in one of the many demonstrations during the matches. Demonstrations will include: conservation of rolling farm land by contour plowing, terracing, strip cropping, grass-seeded waterways and pasture renovation; conservation of level land by correct drainage, land leveling, crop rotation.

Sam Grogg, Director of Elks Minsirel Fifth Straight Year, Calls For Tryouts

Preparations for the fifth annual Elks Minsirel were in full swing today with the arrival of Sam Grogg, of the John B. Rogers Producing Co., who will be directing the show for the fifth consecutive year.

Grogg, a veteran of 12 years with the Rogers company, called the first tryout and rehearsal of the minstrel cast for Monday at 8 p. m. at the Elks home on North Vine Street. In calling the rehearsal, Grogg pointed out that a lot of talent will be needed for "What's Your Game," this year's spectacular show, and asked that anyone interested in taking part make an effort to appear Monday night. There will be a wealth of singing, acting, and dancing parts available for casting, he said, with an especially good part available for soft shoe or tap dancers.

Grogg, who studied and trained at the Geller Theatre Workshop in Hollywood before joining the Rogers company and has been eminent in producing the previous local minstrels, predicts a better show than ever for this year, provided cooperation from the plentiful supply of local talent is received.

Set Trial at Vienna
On Charge of Assault to Murder

The trial of Ardell Johnson of Vienna on a charge of assault with intent to murder yesterday was set for Oct. 13 following his plea of innocence, Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds said today.

Johnson was arrested along with Thomas L. Latham in the attack on Mrs. Maggie Gray, 82, and her 18-year-old granddaughter on Aug. 16, which resulted in the death of the aged Vienna woman.

Gov. Stratton, Mitchell Urge Remap Approval

Governor Warns
Loss Might Result
In Court Action

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Drastic court action may be taken unless Illinois voters approve the legislative reapportionment amendment Nov. 2. Gov. William G. Stratton warned Wednesday night.

Republican Stratton and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell urged passage of the legislative redistricting proposal at an editors and publishers "Blue Ballot" Dinner.

Both houses of the Legislature are now controlled by downstate Illinois. The proposed amendment would leave the Senate in downstate control, but give Cook County a slim margin in the House.

Stratton said the Constitution has an "explicit" requirement that the Legislature be reapportioned every 10 years but this has not been carried out since 1901.

He said the matter is certain to be brought before the courts if the amendment to provide redistricting and a new method of reapportionment thereafter fails Nov. 2.

The courts might well hold civil rights have been violated through failure to meet the constitutional requirement, Stratton said. He pointed out that sizeable population shifts since 1901 have made legislative representation unequal.

If the courts ruled election from such unequal districts was invalid, Stratton said, all legislators might be forced to run on an at-large basis.

"Both the state and federal courts before long will take drastic action," he said. "I don't think there's any doubt about it."

Stratton conceded there is some opposition to the remap plan from lawmakers of both parties. He said some of these opponents "may live to regret" their stands at the polls.

"Change must come," he said, "whether some folks like it or not."

Stratton said it was "beneath the dignity of any of us even to discuss" the argument that a "small clique in Cook County might gain control of the Legislature under the proposed remap plan."

He said such an "unsavory" condition already exists in some "rotten boroughs," an apparent reference to Chicago's West Side, since such districts have far less population than others, allowing easy control.

Mitchell called reapportionment a "long overdue reform" and urged the editors to push for its adoption.

Joseph F. Hesselgrave

Joseph F. Hesselgrave, an employee of the Harrisburg district Social Security Administration office, who has been in charge of the detached official station of the Social Security Administration at Cairo for the past three years, has been promoted to the position of assistant district manager in the Harrisburg office and has moved his family to this city. E. Bishop Hill, district manager, stated today.

Mr. Hesselgrave, a Navy veteran of World War Two, is a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic fraternity and the Elks lodge. He has been teaching in the Methodist Sunday school at Cairo.

He is married and is residing with his wife, Fern, and their two children, Roberta, 7, and Joseph Jr., 12, at 329 South Main street.

Previous to his Cairo assignment under the jurisdiction of the Harrisburg office, Mr. Hesselgrave was with the Social Security Administration at Indianapolis, and several other cities. Douglas Hits GOP Failure to Halt Unemployment; Meek Blasts Demo Recession Talk

By United Press
Sen. Paul Douglas criticized the national Republican administration for failing to alleviate unemployment in Illinois cities but his GOP opponent, Joseph T. Meek, charged today that Douglas is a "prognosticator of panic."

Meek spoke today in Pittsfield, Jerseyville, Alton and several smaller towns in west central Illinois while Douglas spent a second day in the Rock Island-Moline area.

Douglas will be joined this evening at a reception and rally in the Pow Park by his Democratic running-mates, David F. Mallett, candidate for state treasurer, and Mark A. Peterman, nominee for superintendent of public instruction.

Downstate Stumping Tour
Meek is on an extensive downstate stumping tour with Warren Wright, the GOP treasurer candidate, and Vernon Nickell, seeking reelection as schools superintendent.

The Republican senatorial hopeful warned that Douglas, by speaking of a threatened recession, could talk the nation into a full-scale economic disaster.

"He knows that by talking the country into a recession, the depression could be just a matter of time," Meek said. "This one gust ignites the philosophy of fear that leads to the conflagration."

Douglas has made a "serious blunder and he knows it," Meek said.

Speaking at the Rock Island Optimist Club Wednesday, Douglas charged that President Eisenhower's administration is bending its efforts to the benefit of "big business" with no regard for the welfare of small independent operators.

"A gigantic corporation like General Motors has less need for defense contracts than some of the smaller plants in cities like Rock Island, Moline, Rockford, Peoria, East St. Louis and Chicago that are now without enough work," he said.

Both senatorial candidates and their entourage will make appearances at the National Plowing Contest Friday near Olney.

The Illinois Citizens for Eisenhower Committee came out Wednesday in support of Meek. Previously the organization had been reported as cool toward the GOP senatorial nominee for his differences with the President on legislative matters.

It was announced that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin will speak on Meek's behalf at the third annual "Corn Harvest" in Bloomington Oct. 1. McCarthy also will speak at Naperville Sept. 26.

Douglas' campaign manager, Michael Howlett, ripped into Meek.

Auto Runs Down Embankment

An auto driven by James Lloyd Partain, 16, of Harrisburg Route 13 ran down the embankment on Route 45 near Middle Fork bridge northeast of Harrisburg shortly after seven o'clock last night but there were no injuries, the office of Sheriff Paul Spangler reported today.

The accident report said that Partain was travelling north and his car came up behind a car on the curve, which was going slow. Partain, the report said, first started around the brake, and he lost control, the car going down the embankment.

Whatever the article is, it's a pretty sure bet that some other family would be pleased to buy it, and Daily Register classifieds will let them know where to find it. Rearmament Of Germany Is Discussed

Secretary Will Not Visit with French Premier

BONN, Germany (U.P.)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived today for urgent talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on West German sovereignty and rearmament.

Dulles arrived at Wahn Airport near Bonn in a four-engine U. S. military plane direct from Washington.

He said before departure his surprise flight was "on account of the problem created by the French failure to ratify the treaties which could have restored German sovereignty and brought Germany into a European defense community."

West German officials warmly welcomed the Dulles visit as a powerful boost to Adenauer's prestige which suffered within Germany as a result of French action in scuttling EDC.

Met by Adenauer
Adenauer had based his entire foreign policy on EDC and in last week's state election in Schleswig-Holstein he lost the popular vote to anti-EDC Socialists.

Adenauer and other high German leaders met Dulles at the airport.

The U. S. delegation which greeted Dulles included U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, Deputy Commissioner Walter Dowling, Elmer O'Shaughnessy, chief of political affairs, and Joseph B. Phillips, chief of the office of public affairs.

Within minutes, Dulles and Adenauer were on their way to Adenauer's palace to begin their talks.

The Dulles-Adenauer conversations were expected to center mainly around a British proposal which would bring West Germany into a defense pact which links Britain to Western Europe.

By-Pass Paris
Dulles' fast-moving schedule called for discussions in London Friday with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden before returning to the United States Saturday.

It was considered significant by observers that Dulles will not go to Paris to see Premier Pierre Mendes-France, whose jittery National Assembly killed the European Defense Community in fear of possible resurgence of German militarism.

Dulles' by-passing of Paris was interpreted by these observers as an obvious sign that the United States would not permit France to delay rearmament of Germany indefinitely.

PARIS (U.P.)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France announced tonight that a nine-power foreign ministers conference to discuss West Europe's security will meet in London "probably" on Sept. 27.

Mendes-France made the announcement at the conclusion of two days of secret talks with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on the problems of rearming and restoring sovereignty to West Germany.

The death of Joseph F. Hughes, 87, of Dongola, Ill., was reported to the office of R. C. Davenport, Illinois Masonic Grand Secretary.

Mr. Hughes is the father of Carroll T. Hughes, Illinois Masonic Grand Master.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon from the Friendship Baptist church, which is in or near Dongola.

Wife's Will Leaves Estate to Husband Charged with Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (U.P.)—Marilyn Sheppard's will left nearly $10,000 to her husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, who is charged with her murder.

The will was filed with Probate Court Wednesday. The 31-year-old murder victim named her husband sole heir, but provided that their son, Sam Jr., 7, would inherit the estate if she was not survived by her husband.

Probate Judge Walter T. Kinder said the property automatically would revert to the child if Sheppard is found guilty of either first or second degree murder.

Quemoy, A Testing Ground?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Headlines these days suggest pretty furious activity between the Nationalist and the Communist Chinese around the small islands off the mainland coast of China. The effect could be misleading if military operations there are not kept in perspective.

The Reds may well be in the preliminary stages of an invasion attempt against Quemoy, an island some seven miles from the mainland. The island has long been occupied by the Nationalists, and used by them as a base for hit-and-run raids against the mainland.

These raids have harassed the Communists ceaselessly, and it would not be surprising if they should now be mounting an attack designed to wipe out the base.

Naturally the Nationalists are unwilling to abandon this desirable vantage point without a fight. Their spirited air and sea assault against the Red mainland and island bases near Quemoy is the measure of the importance they attach to their outpost.

But this is not war on a big scale, nor is it necessarily a prelude to Red attack on the far more important strategic prize of Formosa, the big Nationalist-held island 100 miles off the Chinese shore.

The Reds can try and may succeed in capturing tiny Quemoy with a vast assortment of junk and other vulnerable craft, despite Nationalist defense. To take on Formosa, with the U. S. Seventh Fleet standing patrol duty close by, is something else. There is no evidence the Reds are prepared yet even to attempt a sneak assault there by sea. Only the Russian Navy could give them the support they need for such an attack.

As a theoretical matter, the idea of an airborne attack cannot be ruled out. But the chances are that Red China is not now equipped nor is its military manpower trained for that kind of offensive.

So blows against Quemoy, however loudly they are heralded, do not signal the start of a broader offensive against the big target, Formosa. Possibly their only value as a prelude would be to gauge the character and effectiveness of the Nationalist defense at Quemoy. If that defense is rugged, the Reds may think a long time before trying to remove the painful Formosa thorn in their side.

Politicians' Feast or Famine

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

It is always a pleasure to note that high-caliber candidates are running for major office. But it is a little disheartening when two men of nearly equal talents and character compete against each other.

Such a situation occurs this year in Kentucky and New Jersey, for example. In the former, GOP Sen. John Sherman Cooper, widely recognized for his ability, is pitted against the venerable Alben Barkley, former vice president and long-time senator.

In New Jersey, capable, responsible Clifford Case, former GOP congressman, is trying to best another talented candidate, Rep. Charles Howell, Democrat.

The Kentucky situation is especially unhappy. Even the Democrats wish Cooper could come back to the Senate next year, but they wouldn't want Dear Alben to lose.

Too bad there isn't some way to assure good distribution of political talent. As you look over the national landscape, you can see some pretty barren stretches. Finding the good ones in clusters doesn't really relieve the bleakness.

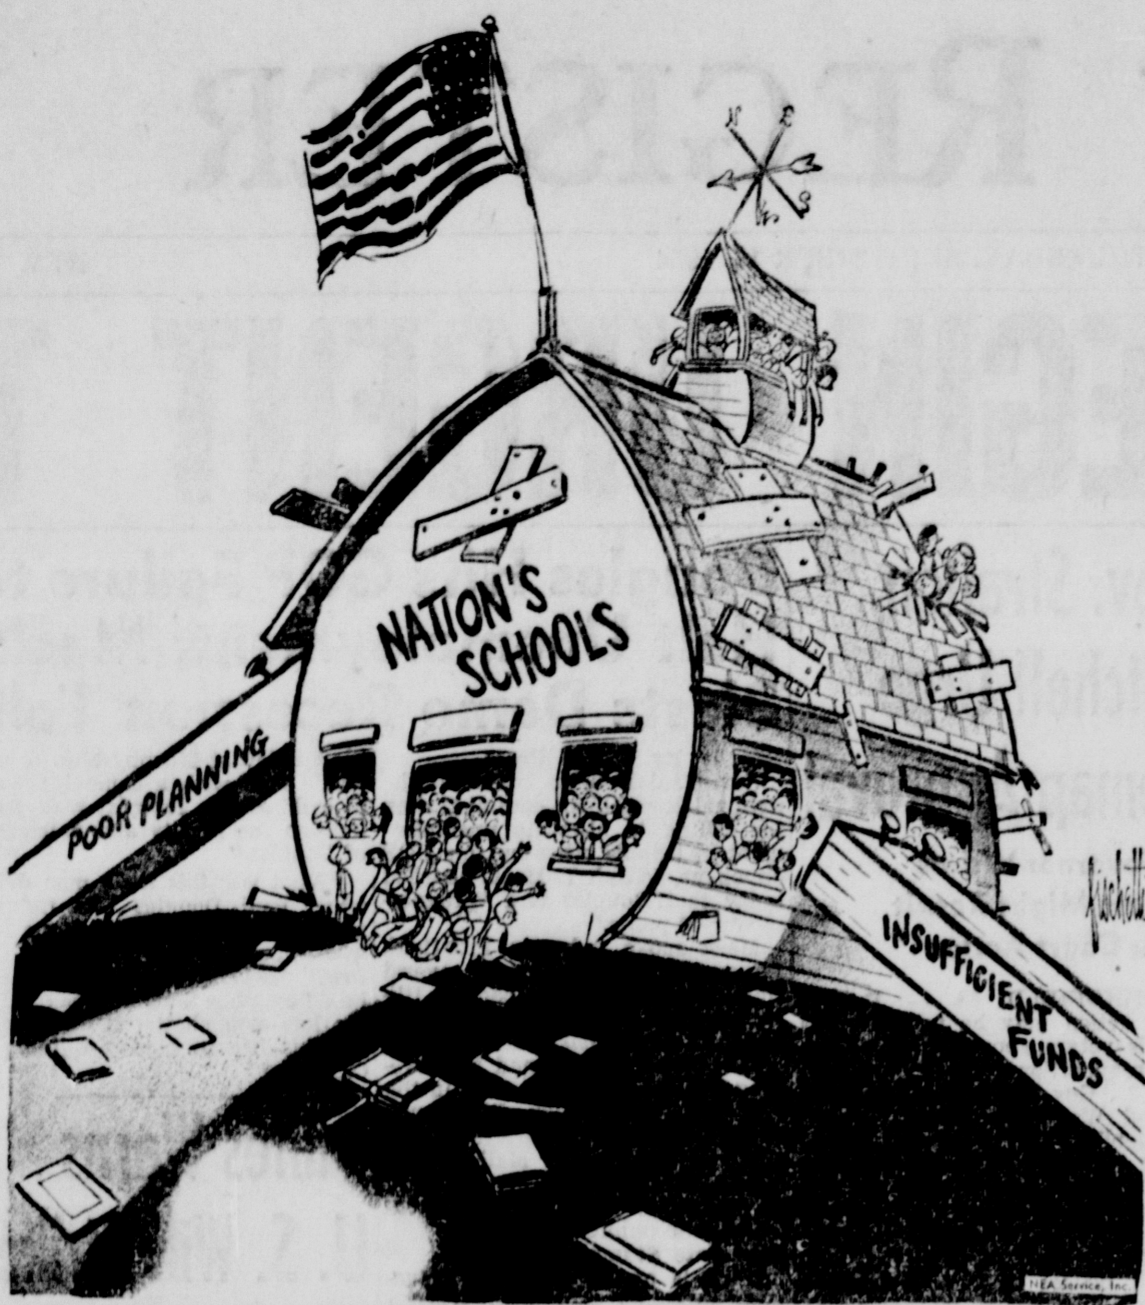

Pet Population Shows Increase

CHICAGO — They still have a good way to go, but parakeets are rapidly gaining on those popular pets—Rover the Pooch and Tabby the Cat.

Statistics at the International Pet Fair disclose that Americans now own 6,500,000 parakeets, an increase of 161 per cent in two years. The dog population is 19,600,000 and cats 14,600,000.

Well, That's One Way

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Has Stand-By Public Works Program In Case Economies Are Too Drastic; Budget Director Prunes Everything Within Sight; Eisenhower Economy Could Be Upset By Far East War Clouds.

WASHINGTON — Though Eisenhower's efforts to balance the budget may be upset by trouble in the Far East, the secret instruction sent to cabinet officers certainly shows that he deserves A for effort.

Yesterday this column published one of the toughest economy crackdowns ever sent to cabinet members by the director of the budget, and today is published the text of the secret memo which Budget Director Hughes attached to his letter.

The memo contains 13 points, including even the curtailment of loans and guarantees of loans to rural electrification cooperatives; veterans housing; federal housing; also less aid to airplane lines and shipping lines.

In the secret budget directive, however, are instructions to ready public works programs "to such a stage that the federal government would be ready to effectively accelerate its public works program at a desirable time."

Obviously this is aimed at throwing public works into high gear if a business recession should develop as a result of lessened government spending.

"High priority should be given to relatively small projects having a wide geographical dispersion," the budget directive states significantly.

Here is the full text of the secret order to cabinet members for carrying out the drastic budget cuts for the coming fiscal year:

"Assumptions and policies for preparation of 1956 budget:

"Assumptions — the bureau staff will supply information on the economic and other assumptions relating to specific programs.

"Budget policy — 1. The amount of new obligatory authority as proposed in the 1955 budget or as enacted by the Congress will be reduced in 1956, so that the levels of government employment and operations will be lower in 1956 than in 1955.

"2. All departments and agencies would be expected to reduce obligation and expenditure rates during the second half of the fiscal year 1955 so as to permit smooth transition to the proposed lower levels for 1956.

"3. To the extent that the accomplishment of the 1956 budgetary objective requires the modification of existing statutes, the necessary legislative proposals should be included in the department's or agency's legislative program.

"4. Proposed reductions will reflect, to the extent possible through administrative action, the continued withdrawal of the federal government from activities that can be more appropriately carried on in some other way."

"5. Actual and prospective savings from reorganizations (inter-agency and intra-agency), improved management, and increased efficiency are to be reflected in lower appropriation requests and lower expenditures in 1956.

POSTPONE ALL SPENDING

"6. All activities and programs not essential and justifiable within the administration's budgetary objective will be proposed for elimination or postponement, and all essential programs will be held to minimum levels and minimum cost—even though the levels recommended in the 1955 budget may have been subsequently increased.

In this connection, the need for and the cost of each program and activity will be examined in its entirety, rather than in terms of changes from a prior year.

"7. The net cost to the general taxpayer of necessary government services which are of special, direct benefit to limited groups of individuals and organizations, should be eliminated or reduced wherever possible by increasing the fees and charges for such services." (This would be farmers; airlines which get safety device help; shipping lines; navigation aids and such services as consular fees.)

"8. Civil public works.

"(A) Except as indicated below estimates under budget ceilings will include no appropriations to start construction on authorized new civil works projects or on new features of going projects, or to resume construction on projects in a suspended status.

"Construction projects under way in 1955 will be continued at minimum economic rates.

STAND-BY PUBLIC WORKS

"Emphasis will be given to the development of plans for authorized high priority projects to a stage where these projects could qualify for construction at a later time, consistent with then prevailing budgetary policy.

"(B) Emphasis will also be given to carrying forward general investigations and advance planning of essential public works, including those required for future economic growth, to such a stage that the federal government would be ready to effectively accelerate its public works programs, at a desirable time.

"Where agencies do not have a large backlog of authorized projects, emphasis will be given to general investigations and surveys and such preliminary plans as are necessary to determine the suitability of projects for authorization. Emphasis will be given to preliminary surveys and plans and to the revision where necessary of existing plans for such work in order that construction could be started promptly.

"With respect to both general investigations and advance planning, high priority should be given to relatively small projects having a wide geographical dispersion, which are urgently needed and economically feasible, and on which construction could be completed at an economic rate within 18 months or less.

"9. Advance planning of national security construction: adequate provision should be made for advance planning of military public works and other national security construction. Emphasis will be placed on bringing planning of projects and programs to such a stage that construction could be readily accelerated, if needed.

"10. Maintenance and repair of government facilities will be held to the minimum level required for continued safe operation and prevention of excessive and costly deterioration.

NIX ON LOANS

"11. New commitments for direct loans, mortgage purchases, and guarantee and insurance of loans will be restricted so as to be consistent with the restrictive budget policies for other types of programs. Private participation will be maximized by confining direct loans and mortgage purchases to only the most urgent requirements and substituting guaranteed or insured loans wherever possible. The maximum feasible reduction will be made in existing loan and mortgage portfolios by an aggressive sales policy which, however, would not involve sales at sacrifice prices.

"In determining the amount of new appropriations required in 1956, full account will be taken of the balances of prior year appropriations and other authorizations that will be available in 1956. Balances of appropriations and contract authorizations for 1955 and prior years which are not required for obligation in 1956 under the policies stated herein, will be proposed for rescission.

"13. All government assets will be managed in the most efficient manner. Requirements for operating supplies and equipment will be met to the fullest extent possible by reductions in inventories rather than by new purchases. Excess inventories, property, and other assets will be proposed for sale or liquidation to recover the value of such assets. The Bureau of the Budget should be informed of major plans for disposition."

Effingham Asks Water Conservation

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—City officials have asked residents to voluntarily cut their use of the city's dwindling water supply by 500,000 gallons per day to lessen possibility of a critical water shortage. The city warned that official restrictions on water use would be put in force if voluntary means failed.

Robbery differs from larceny in that force or fear is employed in the former.

First Baptist Pauline Moore Circle Has Hamburger Fry

Mrs. D. H. Hiller was hostess to the Pauline Moore circle of the First Baptist church Tuesday evening. The group met on the patio for a hamburger fry and potluck supper.

A business meeting followed during which time officers for the new year were announced by the nominating committee and voted on. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Georgia Ziegler; vice president, Mrs. Marjorie Sowers; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Verita Gilley; program chairman, Mrs. Joyce Swanson; mission study chairman, Miss Barbara Fearheiley; community mission chairman, Mrs. Geneva Gibbs; Miss Marcelline Miller; stewardship chairman, Mrs. Maureen Sutton; and social chairman, Miss Elizabeth Pankey.

The program, "A Savior Sufficient for Leaders of Youth," opened with prayer by Mrs. Hiller and with the scripture reading, Psalm 1, by Mrs. Sowers. The group then sang the song, "Our Best."

The topics, "Trees and You" and "Leaders of Youth," were given by Mrs. Gilley and Mrs. Ziegler after which Mrs. S. J. Cole gave a summary of the lesson, comparing the W. M. U. with the trunk of a tree and the branches with the auxiliaries. As a setting for her talk Mrs. Cole had a large poster with the drawing of a tree with each part labeled.

The fifth chapter, "Mary Williams, Friend of the Island Women," in the missionary book, "Dauntless Women," was ably given by Mrs. Swanson.

Those present were Mrs. Eileen Boyd, a new member, Mrs. S. J. Cole, Miss Elizabeth Pankey, Mrs. Georgia Ziegler and son, Bobby, Mrs. Joyce Swanson, Mrs. Geneva Gibbs, Miss Marcelline Miller, Mrs. LaDonna Hughes, Mrs. Marjorie Sowers, Mrs. Virginia Potter and baby, Harold Lee, Mrs. Dixie Sandage, Miss Barbara Fearheiley, Mrs. D. H. Hiller and Mrs. Verita Gilley.

Kupples Klass Enjoys Potluck Supper

The Kupples Klass met Friday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gasaway with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morse and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cooley as assistant host and hostess.

Despite the strong, cold wind, over 40 persons were present to enjoy the potluck supper which followed grace by Mrs. Herman Dunn.

Following the delicious meal, everyone gathered around the wood fire and during the business meeting conducted by Eli Lasersohn, president, plans were made to invite newcomers in Harrisburg to attend church and Sunday school.

The treasurer, Bill Biggers, reported the class had made an additional payment to the church building fund. The project committee announced plans for future undertakings to raise money.

Miss Bernice Patterson, teacher, quoted "The family that plays together and prays together stays together." She urged the class members to consider the class as a big family and to continue to have family suppers despite the lack of a building. She also expressed appreciation for the fine attendance at Sunday school during the hot summer months.

After Mrs. Morse dismissed the group with prayer, class members spent the remainder of the evening visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller of Toledo, Ohio, returned home Tuesday evening following a visit with Miss Bernice Patterson. Mrs. Miller is a former roommate of Miss Patterson when attending the University of Illinois. Mr. Miller is employed at the Toledo Blade.

Prepare Cruiser For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is going to have a boat—but it won't be as luxurious as the 243-foot yacht Williamsburg used by former Presidents Truman and Roosevelt.

The Navy is outfitting a 92-foot cruiser for Mr. Eisenhower, who apparently is interested in smaller craft. The cruiser, once used as an escort for the Williamsburg, has been named Barbara Anne after one of the President's granddaughters.

Mr. Eisenhower ordered the gleaming white Williamsburg into "mothballs" in June of 1953, terming it a "symbol of luxury."

Home Remodeling, Repair Racket in Chicago 'Stinks,' Sen. Capehart Says

CHICAGO — Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) said today the home remodeling and repair racket in Chicago "stinks."

Capehart, heading a Senate investigation of Federal Housing Administration scandals, said banks and loan companies should share the blame.

Capehart commented on the testimony of Harry Kane, brother of former West Coast hoodlum Mickey Cohen, who said Chicago banks and credit companies were aware of illicit financing under FHA-insured loans.

"It's amazing that the credit companies and banks allowed this to go on," Capehart said. "Bankers in Chicago should assume much of the responsibility for this situation."

"It stinks here in Chicago," he said. "It amazes me that it has been going on for 10 years and still continues."

Capehart said the credit companies and banks should be "clean up this dirty mess."

Capehart testified that the racket could not exist "without a clout at the banks and a clout at the FHA."

He said "clout" is an underworld term for a contact that can be bribed.

Capehart said he headed the now defunct Kane Enterprises and Associates, a firm which supplied

Philip Murray Foundation Presents $200,000 Gift to Church Council

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation today presented a gift of $200,000 to the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

The gift from the foundation, created to honor the memory of the late president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America, was presented by CIO President Walter P. Reuther. It was accepted on behalf of the national council by its president, Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, Texas.

Half of the grant will be used to assist the council in financing its national education program in the area of church and economic life. The other $100,000 will be used for a Phil Murray fund to establish a library and research center on religion and economics at the council's national headquarters.

The general board of the national council Wednesday night approved a 13-point program of "Christian principles and presuppositions for economic life."

The program is the council's first major statement on social and economic matters since it was established in 1950.

In its 51-page statement, the board said "Each Christian needs to seek distinctive Christian guidance for his role in the economic order."

The 4,000-word document rejected outright the economic theory of communism as well as certain "misconceptions" including the belief that "some particular economic system is ordained by God" and that "the one sure road to economic justice is the socialization of all major means of production."

The program included such recommendations as:
A minimum standard of living, especially for the sick and aged.
Equal health, education and employment opportunities for youth.
Study of the impact of economic conditions on family life.
Acceptance of the philosophy that every person has the right to perform an honest day's work.

The seeking of a "sound economy" to promote the people's maximum welfare.

Says Relaxation Of Controls Aids Illinois Farmers

SPRINGFIELD — Asst. State Agriculture Director George H. Ifner said today the relaxation of acreage controls announced in Washington Wednesday was the "main thing" asked in drought relief for Illinois farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson eliminated the total acreage section of the farm law which would have put limits on planting of secondary grains on land idled by production cutbacks in wheat and corn.

Ifner said the removal of the total acreage restriction will permit drought-stricken farmers to plant rye, barley, oats, sorghums and other such grains for forage for livestock this fall and feed at harvest next summer.

Ifner credited Gov. William G. Stratton and Agriculture Director Stillman Stanard with "pushing" for the acreage allotment relaxations since July.

He said Stratton and Stanard sought four drought relief measures and all were granted by the federal government. He said these were:

1. Credit or loan extensions.
2. Permission to plant feed crops.
3. Sale of government-sealed corn at a "reasonable" price.
4. An extension of corn loan delivery dates to Oct. 1.

To aid pilots in bad weather landings, a new development electronically reproduces a map of the area on the radar scope, showing local hazards, such as tall buildings and power lines, in relation to airplanes in the vicinity.

Michigan Pins Big Ten Grid Hopes On Passing Arm of Quarterback McDonald

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Once proud Michigan hopes to ride back into Big Ten title contention this fall on the passing arm of quarterback Duncan McDonald. The Wolverines were a national football power for four consecutive years starting in 1947, but fortunes have dwindled during the past three seasons. McDonald, a slender passing wizard from Flint, Mich., is the key player in Michigan's comeback campaign. A senior, he came to Ann Arbor during the free substitution era. The return of the one-plateau system forced him to the bench. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has re-

'Horse' Ameche A Nightmare for Big Ten Coaches

By United Press
Big Ten football coaches who have nightmares thinking of Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's All-American candidate for full-back honors, better dig back into the aspirin bottle for one more season.

Coach Ivy Williamson singled out Ameche Wednesday for special praise for his all-around play in practice sessions. This is Ameche's senior year, and Wisconsin fans know their Big Ten title hopes will rest largely on what he does this season. Judging from practice sessions, it looks like the galloping fullback will top even his sophomore and junior years.

Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath got a little good news for a change. One of his split-T quarterbacks, Dale Quist, who was knocked unconscious in last Saturday's scrimmage, worked out Wednesday and appeared to be fully recovered. Quist was under study to All-American Paul Giel last year.

At Champaign, Ill., Charley (Big Sugar) Butler, 6 foot 227 pound sophomore from Hot Springs, Ark., appeared Wednesday to have clinched a first team left end position on the Illinois eleven.

Butler was moved up to the varsity when senior Steve Nosek, Chicago, suffered a thigh injury. Butler has been so impressive since that observers say he's got the first string assignment in the bag. Northwestern Coach Bob Voigts sent his Wildcats through two light drills, giving the first and second teams a little rest after their 6-6 tie scrimmage of Tuesday.

Reds to File Complaint Against Playing Game in Drizzle

BROOKLYN — Gabe Paul, Cincinnati Redlegs general manager, said today he'll file a complaint to National League President Warren Giles over the conditions under which Wednesday's game with the Brooklyn Dodgers was played. The Redlegs lost to the Dodgers, 10-4, in a game played in a steady drizzle. Paul said, "No game which might affect the championship or a place in the race should be played under such conditions."

All games will be played on Monday nights and games at Eldorado will start at 7 p. m. The Daily Register 25c a week by carrier boy.

Postpone Title Fight Until Friday Night

NEW YORK — With the permission of the New York Giants the twice-postponed return heavyweight title bout between Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles will be staged at Yankee Stadium Friday night at 9 p. m. CST.

No fights can be held at either of the ball parks if the local ball club is playing.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, reluctantly consented to let the fight go on Friday night at the Stadium on condition the preliminaries start at 7 p. m. and the main event at 9 p. m. The baseball game starts at 6:15 p. m. CST.

NEW YORK — The Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight championship fight today was postponed again because of rain until Friday night.

The fight originally was to have been held Wednesday night but was postponed until tonight by rain. A second 24-hour postponement was announced today by Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club, although the latest weather forecast predicted the rain, which has been falling here the last two days, would stop during the afternoon.

The unexpected shift to Friday night will not interfere with the regularly scheduled Friday night radio-TV bout. Middleweights Walter Cartier and Willie Troy will start their scheduled 10-rounder at 10 p. m. in Washington.

The Marciano-Charles bout will start at 10:30 p. m. EDT in Yankee Stadium and it will be sent out on closed circuit television to 70 theaters in 50 cities. It also will be broadcast nationally.

Officials of the IBC thought Wednesday night they would be unable to stage the heavyweight fight on Friday night and that any postponement would delay the bout until Saturday. But the way was cleared today.

The Marciano-Charles fight is the third heavyweight title bout in modern ring history to be postponed and it is the second to be postponed twice.

'Stop Messing Up My Money'—Giants' Clubhouse Man Gets Full Series Cut

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—Each day, when it comes time to take the field for another game wrapped in pennant possibilities, the New York Giants file out of their big clubhouse in center field and walk down to the Polo Grounds turf.

When they leave, it becomes the signal for Eddie Logan, a thin guy who usually wears a T-shirt and some old khaki pants, to walk over to a window looking out on the field and take up a nervous vigil.

Logan is the Giants' clubhouse attendant, has been since 1921. You'd expect him to be a rooster with more than a passing interest.

But a look at Logan during a game, writhing when something goes wrong, leaping from his chair when the Giants get a run, shows you it means a lot more than just seeing his favorites win.

"Boy, you're not kidding," Logan said between innings. "Would you believe it? I got just as much at stake—sitting here in the clubhouse—as they do in the field. If we win the pennant, I come away with a full World Series share. And do you know what it means for a guy like me?"

Logan is not kidding. If the Giants enter the World Series with the Indians—and it is the "if" which is helping grow a sturdy set of ulcers in his stomach—the non-combatant will come away with a share which threatens to hit an all-time high. Something well above $8000.

This would be a more than welcome addition to the modest salary he earns by playing nursemaid to the playing and locker room equipment of 25 players.

"It would be," he smiles, "just like getting into the World Series."

So, when the game is being played, you take a good look at Logan. Here is a guy who can't hit, throw, field or run, yet his interest is equal to that of a Sal Maglie or Johnny Antonelli.

At times, during a tough game, Logan wishes he could do those things.

"Oh, if I could only get out there with a bat... I'd hit the thing a mile and a half," he moans.

He is, when you think of it, in the same spot as a grandstand fan who has been told that he will get a full cut if he roots his team home. Only Eddie just doesn't sit around and cheer. When a Giant hurler is knocked out of the box, he turns and walks off the field and into the clubhouse.

He has Logan to face.

"What are you doing," Logan rasps at him, "messaging around with my World Series money?"

After the game, Eddie goes about his business—cleaning baseball shoes, picking up towels, doing the small-looking jobs which give him a living.

But all the time, he is just as worried as the next.

When Eddie Logan says, "We gotta win tomorrow, guys," it means just as much as if he were playing.

Oklahoma and California Game Opener for TV

SAN FRANCISCO — Paul Larson, a magician in California gridiron togs, is the man for Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and the nation's TV viewers to watch on Saturday.

The season's opener between the Golden Bears and the University of Oklahoma not only brings together two of the nation's top-ranking teams, but it is the opening program on the NCAA's TV showing for the grid season. Kick-off time is 5 p. m. EDT and about 70,000 fans will be in Memorial Stadium for the show.

Larson, a quarterback who led the nation in total yardage gained last year with spectacular passing and running, is expected to be even better this year. And if the TV cameramen are able to follow his hokus-pokus with the porkhike, they will prove that a year's experience has improved their talents, too. Last year they "lost" him all too often.

Mays Will Clinch Most Valuable Player Award If Giants Win Pennant

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays, who throws up his hands in a boyish embarrassment any time the idea is broached to him, probably will clinch the National League's Most Valuable Player award the same day that the Giants clinch the 1954 pennant.

Mays' closest pursuer in the MVP department at the moment is Duke Snider, who collected two hits in Brooklyn's 10-4 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday and continued to lead the league with a .342 batting mark.

Since the tendency in the MVP voting is to make the award to a player on a pennant-winning team, Mays, who is batting .339 and has been the spark plug of the Giants from the moment he rejoined them from service last March, is a good bet to wind up with the honor when and if the Giants win.

Willie Diffident
Mays doesn't like to talk or think about the MVP award.

"If I win it, okay," he says, "and if I don't win it, that's okay, too. I'll appreciate it if I win it, but I don't like to talk about it."

Even if Mays doesn't wish to discuss the subject, a lot of others did Wednesday as rain washed out the game between the Giants and Braves in the National league and the American league game between the Yankees and Tigers.

The Dodgers, in cutting the distance between them and the league-leading Giants to three games, played in a steady drizzle but it didn't affect their batting eyes.

They pounded five Cincy pitchers for 15 hits, including four by Gil Hodges, who smashed his 40th home run of the season and his 23rd at Ebbets Field. Don Newcombe registered the victory, although he needed the help of Jim Hughes in the eighth.

Upsels IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — The Cinderella season of the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians simply serves today to point up that this has been a sports year with more surprises and upsets than you'd get it taking a bath in a washing machine.

Seamed as a "foldup" team after three straight second place finishes, the Indians are just about "in" with a smashing end to the Yankees' hopes for a sixth straight pennant. And the Giants are intent on coming all the way from fifth to the top.

Which is typical of the year no matter what happens to be your sport.

Two Boxing Upsets
If boxing is your meat, you got a tingling job out of at least two big ones. The first was Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson's win over Dan Baccaroni, then the No. 3 heavyweight challenger. The second was when Paddy DeMarco, a 1 to 4 underdog, stripped the lightweight title from Jimmy Carter.

Tennis got into the act all the way around on the unexpected triumph of a veteran trio — Doris Hart, Vic Seixas and Jaroslav Drobny. Seixas, twice a runnerup, won the U. S. Amateur net crown on his 14th attempt. Miss Hart, five times beaten in the finals, finally copped the U. S. women's crown. Drobny, the scaled Czech, won Wimbledon on his 11th try.

Same Story In Golf
In golf it was the same story. Ed Furgol, a 38-year-old with a withered left arm who never had taken a major event, took the U. S. Open while such as Ben Hogan and Sam Snead labored far in the rear. Chick Harbert, a 39-year-old two-time runnerup, stepped front and center to take the PGA title.

There were those who insisted nobody would ever run the mile in less than four minutes, a mark which has been eyed ever since the invention of the stopwatch. So what happened? It's been done three times.

Roger Bannister, of Britain led the way through track and field's sound barrier with a 3:59.4 clocking. This inspired Aussie John Landy to a 3:58 mark and, in a subsequent meeting, Bannister bested Landy in 3:58.8.

Down in old Kentucky, prior to this year, they had run America's greatest horse races 79 times and never had a gray horse been able to win the Derby. That jinx even held the year before against the great Native Dancer, beaten a horrible head. But Determine took it last May—and he's a gray.

In the spring of 1953, Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias underwent a cancer operation and her surgeon told her she was through with golf. But this year the Babe came bouncing back to win the U. S. Women's Open.

That's the way it's been ever since New Year's Day, when Maryland, the nation's No. 1 football team, was upset by Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

3-School Cross Country Meet at Ridgway High Friday

It will be the first meet of the fall season for the distance runners. All three schools are members of the Greater Egyptian conference.

combination of eight victories or Dodger defeats, meet Milwaukee in a double-header today.

Only two other games were played in the majors Wednesday. Tom Poholsky pitched a seven-hitter to lead the Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over the Phillies while Jim Fridley delivered a pinch single off Mel Parnell in the ninth to give the Orioles a 2-1 triumph over the Red Sox. Fridley's blow scored rookie Frank Keliert from second and climaxed "Jimmy Dykes' Appreciation Night" which was held in honor of Baltimore's outgoing manager.

New Pastor Directs Work on Church Building

Rev. J. Andrew Rafferty is the new minister of the Church of God on South Land street succeeding Rev. W. J. Milligan who recently retired as pastor. He is a native of Lemmon, South Dakota, and a graduate of Northwest Bible and Music Academy in Minot, North Dakota.

Before coming to Harrisburg he was pastor of the Church of God in Springfield and was at one time president of the International Bible college in Estevan, Canada, for a number of years.

A former contractor and engineer, Rev. Rafferty came to Harrisburg purposely to build a new church, and work was begun this week. The new church, which is being built on the lot next to the church now standing, will be of white glazed tile and completely modernistic with air conditioning throughout. The approximate valuation is fifty thousand dollars.

The work on this project will be done mostly by the laymen of the church and other help.

Illinois High Grid Season Opens Friday

Bull Dogs Will Play at Murphysboro, Carmi at Benton

The 1954 Illinois high school football season gets under way tomorrow night and the dopesters will get a pretty good idea if they are going to be right on their pre-season choices.

Those who seem to know figure that Murphysboro is all alone when it comes to naming the champion of the Southwestern Illinois conference. In the South Seven it's different. Benton, Herrin and Centralia all have their followers; and it might be late in the season before it is known positively which will wear the crown now worn by the Mt. Vernon Rams.

Harrisburg will be the first to play mighty Murphysboro but the result will not count in the standings of either league as it is a non-conference tilt. However, the result will make a lot of difference in early-season prestige.

Other Openers

Harrisburg-Murphysboro must be considered one of the important opening night games although the Red Devils are definitely favored. Others include Carmi at Benton, Carbondale at West Frankfort, Flora at Centralia and Eldorado at Anna-Jonesboro.

In the South Seven conference Centralia has 15 lettermen back spearheaded by tailback Bobby Joe Mason and an all-South Seven guard, Leonard "Moose" Taylor. Benton has 16 lettermen, including a number of huge linemen, and Herrin has 12 lettermen among 20 returning veterans.

Herrin stock moved higher last week after Coach Leodio Cabutti hinted that only two juniors off the undefeated Tiger frosh-soph team of last year figure so far in plans for the first eleven. Included among the veterans are halfback Bill Lawrence and end John Agar. Both all-conference selections, and two long honorable mentions, quarterback Jack Zwick and tackle Martin Hailey. Cabutti said Lawrence is running better now than ever.

West Frankfort's Red Birds are bound to be a conference threat, with one of the biggest lines in the conference. The Birds may be able to field two complete sets of backfield men, too.

Mt. Vernon, last year's champ, has eight returning lettermen but lost all the regulars off its 1953 team as 18 seniors graduated.

Harrisburg Coach Lawrence Caluffetti indicated that against Murphysboro he would start the following lineup:

Undeclared Teams

About 200 games will raise the curtain on the 1954 campaign in downstate Illinois tomorrow night. Sixteen teams will move into the season defending perfect records they chalked up during 1953. Rock Island and East St. Louis, each with 21 straight wins, head the select list.

Other undefeated and untied eleven were Carmi, Auburn, Barrington, Chatsworth, Chenoa, Elmhurst, Hall Township of Spring Valley, Jerseyville, Joliet Catholic, Lake Forest Academy, Orion, Plainfield, Tuscola and Wheaton.

Carmi will be shooting for No. 10 in a row when the White County boys invade Benton for a contest with Ralph Davison's highly-regarded crew.

elect president; Donald Smith, vice president; Kaye Drone, secretary; Sherri Davis, treasurer; Joan Bushnell, reporter; and Pat Sudboth, historian.

Club members will participate in one-act and three-act plays during the year. Members are: Wanda Fisher, Roberta Caldwell, Essie Biggerstaff, Charles Morris, Carolyn Heath, Betty Drone, Judy Waller, Nina Pierson, Bridget Barlow, June Friedls, Alberta Orman, Brenda Barlow, Mary Lou Awall, and Herschel Uelston.

Broadcast of Bull Dog-Murphysboro Game on Delayed Basis by WEBQ

The Bull Dog game at Murphysboro Friday night will be broadcast on a delayed basis, Ken Hamilton, sports announcer at WEBQ, announced today.

Reason is the St. Louis-Milwaukee baseball game starting at 7 p.m., which has priority because of its baseball broadcasting contract.

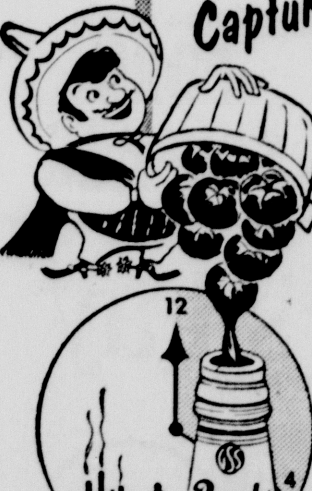

Hamilton said that he would broadcast the game as it progresses and it will be recorded at the local studio. Then, just as soon as the baseball game is over, the beginning of the football contest will be started.

Hamilton and his partner, Elmer Gladson, will broadcast all Bull Dog and Bull Pup football games this fall as well as several of the Eldorado varsity contests.

New Plan Needed to Repair
Ailing AEC Labor Relations

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Behind the past year's not-too-good labor relations record in government-owned atomic energy plants is a touchy personnel problem with overtones of union politics.

Fundamentally, the labor problem in atomic energy is that while the employees work for private industry contractors who operate the plants, the government has a vested national defense interest.

Strikes in atomic energy installations therefore can't be allowed, as President Eisenhower pointed out when he issued his most recent Taft-Hartley injunction order at Oak Ridge, Tenn., on Aug. 12.

During the war, atomic energy workers conceded that there could be no strikes in defense industries. But in 1948, Oak Ridge had the first atomic energy industry strike. It went—the Taft-Hartley route. There was an 89-day injunction, which ran out without settlement. Then, after a 50-hour negotiation session, Cyrus S. Ching, director of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, got an agreement that sent the men back to work.

MR. CHING SAW THAT something special would have to be done to prevent strike recurrences. He therefore recommended to President Truman the appointment of a three-man atomic energy labor-management relations panel, reporting directly to the White House. Head of this panel was Will H. Davis, former chairman of the War Labor Board and one of the most experienced labor relations men in the country. In return for this special consideration of their problems, the unions gave Davis a waiver on a no-strike pledge, and management gave a no-lockout pledge. It wasn't wholly effective, but it worked pretty well for five years.

When the Eisenhower administration came to town in 1953, members of the Davis panel submitted their routine resignations. They were accepted in March. For a time there was no labor-management panel.

When the White House reorganized the panel in July, Cyrus Ching was made its chairman. That was fine as far as it went, but for housekeeping purposes, this panel was put under Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Department of Labor. This was in line with President Eisenhower's desire to decentralize his Administration and get a lot of time-consuming activities out of the White House.

IN THIS CASE, it didn't work. Call it petty personal pique on the part of the atomic energy labor union leaders if you will. But their government panel had been downgraded from the White House to a third-level government division which was always under constant pressure from labor and management on all the other U. S. labor disputes.

Atomic energy union leaders took the four-month interval when there was no White House panel to declare that its death had voided all their past no-strike pledges. Their grievances were being given no consideration, they said. And the past year of troubled labor relations in atomic energy began.

Since that time there have been strikes over wages, hours, working conditions, housing, health, community facilities like schools and all kinds of fringe benefits.

A complicating factor in this situation is that the atomic energy business has expanded from three main installations to a dozen with over 1500 employees. Hanford has 18,500; Savannah River 20,000; Portsmouth 22,000 and Oak Ridge 27,000. The Atomic Energy Commission itself has 6000 government employees. But its contractors have 137,100—of whom 73,600 are in operations and 63,500 on construction.

THESE INVOLVE HUNDREDS of labor contracts with that many contractors and subcontractors. Many contractors work on a cost plus basis and don't care what wages or fringe benefits the government has to pay.

Uniform wages and working conditions are next to impossible under these circumstances, even though union leaders might like them. There is also little possibility that Congress would pass a law authorizing uniform pay scales as it does for government employees.

Nevertheless, a conference of Machinists' Union representatives, all cleared for security, is meeting at Los Alamos, N. M.—right inside the big laboratory there—to discuss these problems Sept. 9-11.

CIO President Walter Reuther and AFL Metal Trades President James Brownlow met recently with AEC Commissioner Joseph Campbell and General Manager Kenneth Nichols. One new point brought up by Mr. Reuther was the need for an AEC Labor Advisory committee to help plan policy on their common problems.

Something of this kind may be worked out to repair the damage to AEC labor relations since the

SIU Launches Community Programs at Rosiclare, Du Quoin, Elizabethtown

CARBONDALE, Ill. — The coal mining community of Du Quoin and the fluorspar mining center, Rosiclare, have invited Southern Illinois university's department of community development to introduce community study programs this month. Another program will be launched at Elizabethtown Oct. 1.

Purpose of the community projects is to investigate economic, social and cultural conditions with the objective of raising living standards in declining areas or making good towns better.

Richard W. Poston, head of the community development department at Southern, already has addressed 400 residents of tiny Rosiclare at a community meeting, and a census is to be taken there soon by volunteers before the study program begins.

Street Rally Sept. 20

At Du Quoin, Poston will speak at a street rally at 7 p. m. next Monday, Sept. 20, and census-taking by 210 enumerators and 30 crew leaders will start the next day in Du Quoin and a surrounding five mile area, including Sunfield, Old Du Quoin and St. John's. An organizational session will be held Oct. 25 to make up research committees among the townspeople to study economic questions, beautification, agriculture, schools, churches and other elements of community life.

Some 200 persons have taken part in the preliminary planning for the Du Quoin Community Study and Development Program. Temporary chairman is Carl G. Bowser, a banker. Temporary heads of committees are: Philip Provart, county superintendent of schools, boundary committee; Mrs. Phyllis Upson, census; Wesley Negil, population, and A. J. Atwood, publicity.

Du Quoin, the largest town in Perry county with about 7200 population, is best noted for its coal mines, meat packing plant and for its annual Du Quoin State Fair, which drew a total of 403,000 visitors.

Mt. Pleasant Cordelia
Williams Circle Meets

The first fall meeting of the Cordelia Williams circle of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Nellie Adams.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross" followed with a talk by Mrs. W. H. Hughes, wife of the pastor. The group was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Hughes.

Ice cream and cake were served to Rev. and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. T. B. Craig, Mrs. Lydia White, Mrs. Myrtle Towle, Mrs. Loreen Mayberry and daughter, Roselyn, Miss Cora Drew, Mrs. Carrie Brown and Mrs. Nellie Adams.

Historic House

PLYMOUTH, Vt. — (UP) — The Wilder House here has been restored by the Vermont Historic Sites Committee and is now operating as a hospitality center for visitors to the birthplace of Calvin Coolidge. The house formerly was owned by John Wilder and his wife, uncle and aunt of the late president.

More than $16,000,000 worth of stamps and $233,000,000 worth of money orders were bought by military personnel from 285 Army-Air Force Post Offices during 1953.

old Davis panel was killed.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell's designation of David L. Cole as head of a new five-man commission to study atomic labor relations is the first step in this direction. Cole, who succeeded Mr. Ching as Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was not continued in that post by the Eisenhower administration. Now he's called back to handle its number one labor problem.

community meeting last Thursday. Poston told the crowd that any progress in making Rosiclare a better town would be achieved only thru the cooperation of all citizens.

Rosiclare is only a few miles from Elizabethtown where the program is scheduled to start Oct. 1 under the temporary chairmanship of Clyde Flynn, a rural mail carrier. Both towns on the Ohio river have a wealth of historical background and undeveloped scenic attractions.

To date, the community development studies have been conducted in Eldorado and Chester, where permanent action committees are attempting to overcome problems that were brought to light during six months of research by the local citizenry.

Limestone Lem Says

"Healthy Bones Are Absolutely Essential
To Our Well Being."

Calcium is essential for the efficient functioning of various organs in our bodies. HEALTHY BONES mean healthy nerves, muscles and other organs. Your blood contains calcium—that's what helps it to clot. If it weren't for calcium, the smallest scratch would result in bleeding to death. This mineral regulates the rhythm of the heart beat—without calcium—there would be no heart beat.

Few people realize that the foods we eat are no better nutritionally than the soil in which they are grown. Soil scientists urge you, MR. FARMER, to apply ever increasing quantities of liming material on your soils, as this is the major source of replacement of calcium removed from the soil by cropping and leaching.

YOU MUST PUT BACK INTO THE SOIL THAT WHICH IS TAKEN OUT — It's the first principle of all good farming.

COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE is 20% finer than 200 mesh, giving you more fine powdery limestone which will act quicker in neutralizing soil acidity.

Board Given Report of Girl Scout Activity

The board of the Saline County Council of Girl Scouts met recently at the McKinley school.

The president of the club, Mrs. Charles Farrar, in a talk to the group stated that "Ten years ago five out of every 100 girls between the ages of 7 and 17 were Girl Scouts, whereas today 12 out of every 100 American girls wear the Girl Scout green and that there are 30 Girl Scouts in Saline County Council today."

She said that the Girl Scout Report tells the story of how in 1933 the opportunity to develop as good citizens and good people through Girl Scouting was made available to girls throughout the nation. The Report documents the dramatic experiments to give Scouting to daughters of defense workers and migrant farm workers who live on the move and have little chance to belong to a community. It relates how the organization has intensified efforts to bring Scouting to the bedsides of handicapped children, giving them a chance to contribute their talents to society. It tells the story of the tremendous growth of the troops on foreign soil, made up of daughters of military and civilian U. S. families serving Uncle Sam all around the world. There are now over 12,000 Girl Scout troops in foreign countries.

She concluded "Last year's Girl Scout story is one of two million girls and adults working together in freedom and democracy for a better world tomorrow."

The secretary, Mrs. E. J. Thompson, gave the report, and the various chairmen, Mrs. Eugene Morris, Mrs. Donald O'Neal, Miss Barbara Thompson and Mrs. Kenneth Capel each gave a report on things that had been done during the summer months and things to be done in the future.

It was announced that a training school was to be held on Oct. 5 and 6 in the afternoon and evening at the club room of the public library.

Mrs. Farrar announced that the Saline County Council of Girl Scouts would meet Sept. 23 at Karel Park for a council meeting and wieners and that all members were urged to attend as the coming year's plans will be given.

BITTER SAGE

as men.

Chuck Gorey came around the side of the jail, saw Tancered and stopped.

Tancered said, "I thought you might miss it, Gorey."

Sudden fear showed on Gorey's face. He started to back away, but Tancered halted him. "Stand still," He nodded to Kinnaird.

"Bring out Fugger."

Kinnaird waited a brief moment.

"I let him out the back way."

"So ten thousand was your price?"

"No," said Kinnaird. "It wasn't the money."

"Never mind. It's too late."

He took another backward step and Kinnaird moved out of the doorway, across from Tancered. A dozen feet away Hong Kong Smith stopped. "Your half hour's up," he growled.

Gil Packard, Prosecutor Glass-man, Judge Kraft and the other men who had called on Tancered a half hour ago, came around the corner and started across the street.

Without looking at them, Tancered said, sharply, "Keep out of this. It's my fight."

Eric Stratemeyer pointed. "Is that the gun with which you killed Sam Older?" His voice was a taunt.

"In spite of his faults," Tancered said, taking it up, "Sam Older never asked for the odds."

Stung, Stratemeyer sneered.

Dave Helm said, suddenly, thickly, "Hong Kong, I didn't bargain for this." He took a quick step forward, made a half turn to face the Texas men. "I'll kill the first man who makes a move."

Still sneering, Stratemeyer's hand streaked for his gun.

He was fast, terribly fast, yet nine years ago, Tancered would have beaten him. Stratemeyer's gun was in his hand, spouting flame and lead, when Tancered came up.

It was the speed of the draw and the fast triggering that was so necessary to a professional gun-fighter of Stratemeyer's caliber that beat him. He drew fast and he fired fast, but his aim was not true enough. He counted entirely on his speed. His first bullet missed Tancered by a hair's breadth and his second tore through Tancered's shirt and barely grazed his skin. There was no third bullet, for Tancered's caught him squarely between the eyes.

Tancered made his half-swivel, caught Kinnaird with his gun clearing the holster. Kinnaird, in that last instant of his life, saw his fate and started to cry out. Tancered's bullet choked it off.

Harpending went for his gun a fraction of an instant after Stratemeyer, but he never quite got his gun out. Dave Helm's bullet caught him in the stomach and Harpending folded forward.

Hong Kong Smith was suddenly paralyzed. His hands went half-way up and he babbled: "Don't shoot—don't shoot—"

His lips twisted into a sneer. Dave Helm stepped forward. He thrust out his gun so that the muzzle was almost touching Smith. He said, "This is the way I gave it to Luke Miller..." and pulled the trigger.

Tancered turned on Chuck Gorey. The ex-marshall stood, his mouth wide open in fright, his hand frozen, halfway to his gun.

"Go ahead, Gorey!" snapped Tancered.

But Gorey could not move.

Then Jacob Fugger hurried out from between the jail and the adjoining building. There was a gun in his hand. His eyes, the eyes of a madman, were straight ahead.

And straight ahead of him, his back turned to Fugger, was Dave Helm.

Fugger pulled the trigger. Tancered saw the bullet hit Helm, hurl him forward to his knees. He turned his gun on Fugger, but held his fire.

Slowly, with great effort and agony on his face, Dave Helm twisted around. His gun came up—thundered. Fugger let out a scream and hit the earth.

Helm's tortured eyes met Tancered's across the distance.

"Goodbye, Wes!" he choked. Helm's eyes glazed and he fell forward on his face.

Not one of the Texas men drew a gun. Dave Helm's defection had stopped them. Or, perhaps, they were men like Helm, who didn't like the odds—if they were against the other man.

Tancered cocked his head to one side and watched Gil Packard come slowly forward.

"It's over," said Tancered.

His eyes went beyond the Texas men up the street. Far away, past Fugger's Store, he saw a swiftly running figure, a girl. Behind her, at the depot, was the morning train from the east. He thrust the revolver under his waistband and took off the marshal's badge that he had pinned on less than a half hour ago.

"I won't need this any more," he said. He tossed it to Gil Packard.

Tancered was walking down the street, toward Laura Vesser, who was coming from the train toward him.

They met 10 feet from the door of the Texas Saloon. Lily Leeds, standing in the open doorway, looked at them for a moment, then turned and went into the saloon.

Rev. Morman Addresses Horace Mann PTA on Spiritual Values in Home

The Horace Mann P. T. A. met Monday night for the first meeting of the new school year, with a large group of parents present. Mrs. Thompson's fourth grade room had the largest percentage of parents in attendance.

The new president, Mrs. James Gwaltney, presided during a brief business session; and Mrs. Paul Tanner, vice-president and program chairman, introduced the speaker, the Rev. R. J. Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The topic discussed by the Rev. Morman was "Moral and Spiritual Values in the Home." Remarking that a "better home" doesn't mean just redecorating, Rev. Morman stated the roots of a home must be in the home itself.

Telling how these roots might be planted, he suggested that the home could teach companionship, how to make decisions, manners, thankfulness, duty, cooperation, prayer, rest, etc. He closed his discussion by saying that a "clos-

Business and Professional Women's Club Begins Fall Activities With Dinner

The Harrisburg Business and Professional Women's club began its fall activities Tuesday evening with a dinner in the Fellowship hall of the First Christian church. The singing of the club song, with Mrs. Ruth Thompson as accompanist, and the reading of the Club Collect by Mrs. C. C. Cooley, opened the meeting.

The president, Miss Meriam Evans, presided during the business transactions. Announcement of the dinner meeting to be held at the McLeansboro high school on Oct. 11, when the clubs of District 13 will honor Mrs. Ella K. Mosley, Metropolis, who is the Illinois Mother of the Year, was made.

An account of the workshop held in Decatur in August was given by Mrs. Nelle Meyers, chairman of Public Health and Safety. She pointed out several rules on health and safety and asked the members of the club to cooperate. Mrs. William Sloan Jr., who is the State International chairman and who conducted the workshop on International Relations, gave a report and the president outlined the program of the State president which was given at the workshop.

September being legislative month, the program was in charge of the Legislative chairman, Mrs. Sloan, who was the speaker for the evening. Mrs. Sloan gave an interesting and informative talk on the legislative program adopted by the National Federation. She also spoke on "How The New Tax Law" will help the people and the progress report on legislation. She closed stating that better government begins with each club member.
